

Automated, Secure Exchange of Account Data

Securely exchanges cardholder account updates, maintains PCI compliance

Merchants face a growing challenge when it comes to staying abreast of changes in cardholder account information. Expired cards, closed accounts, card upgrades and replacements have caused card reissuing rates to skyrocket—along with the burden for merchants that process recurring transactions. A Paymetric merchant customer was previously experiencing a 40% failure rate on recurring transactions with stored cards. With XiUpdater, merchants no longer lose revenue for expired or changed cards they cannot update.

Securely Update Card Data

XiUpdater helps merchants manage the constant change in cardholder information with automatic updates including changes to expiration date, account number and account closures using our patented tokenization technology.

Paymetric enables customers to use a card updater service without detokenizing credit cards within their PCI protected environment. XiUpdater puts a tokenized wrapper around the standard card updater solutions so that raw customer data does not enter enterprise systems, therefore enabling merchants to keep their PCI compliant environment intact.

XiUpdater is a secure solution that helps merchants:

- Reduce excessive authorization declines and retain more revenue
- Reduce costs of manually updating payment data
- Reduce unnecessary customer interaction and risk of service cancellation
